OUR TOWN

The name of our town is Red Lion: Red Lion, York County, Pennsylvania, U.S.A., Western Hemisphere, the Temperate Zone, the World, the Solar System and the Universe, come to think of it. We're just about twenty miles from the Maryland line, just north of the Mason-Dixon line, that is. Route 74 runs right through our town, right past the square. Across the railroad tracks is the U.S. Post Office and up the street is the Youth Center. On that big hill over yonder is the old high school, now the junior high, and right below the hill, down in the holla, is the new senior high. There's an elementary school in the north end of town and one in the south end, too, and we have six elementaries scattered through the townships. We've got our share of churches here: mostly E.U.B., and up there the United Church of Christ, and the Lutheran, plus a few more. This year's 1965, and the month's September, and the time — 8:15, when all ten schools are opening their doors to our younger citizens — same as they did for their parents and grandparents before them.

History of Red Lion

Red Lion was named for a Colonial tavern, but "ceegar"-making put our town on the map. Folks used to set up factories anywhere they could, even in cellars, till we had almost a hundred. In the early days a person had three banks to choose from, but we have only two now, right on the square. People around here used to hear the whistle of the Maryland-Pennsylvania Railroad, too, but they don't any more. While it was here, though, it sure gave the town something to grow on.

Education in Red Lion

Not so long ago we still had one-room schoolhouses in our townships. Last one closed down in 1958. Some of those old schoolroom desks and steeple bells have found their way into private attics and antique shops by now. Our first real high school started out with a few pupils and a three-year course. That was 1899. Now we have eleven hundred students buzzin' and hummin' away in a brand new building, one of those new-fangled, low-lying affairs, mostly windows. Of course, we've been doing some consolidating, too. Forty-six percent of our graduates go on after they get that diploma in their hands, and some of them make mighty fine teachers, and doctors and dentists, too. Most of them come right back here to Red Lion to settle. In the long run, things around here don't change much.

You've Got to Have Life

Enhanced by the beautiful scenery of a Roman Holiday, James Delhamer and his guest, Barbara Gibb, with Galen Byrd and his guest, Stephanie Stabley, pause to examine this picturesque fountain.

ROMAN HOLIDAY

It was that wonderful time of year again, bringing with it a night to remember. Seniors, juniors, and their guests, transported back into history for a "Roman Holiday," were awed by the gymnasium filled with fountains, columns, and pavilions. Music for this enchanting Italian atmosphere was provided by the Bill Collins Orchestra. Girls looking their loveliest and fellows feeling their proudest danced until the magical hour of midnight, when Cinderellas and their princes changed into typical teenagers in sneakers, shorts, and sweatshirts for a night of activities starting with a hike to the Country Club. Any soul brave enough could go swimming, and some did. After a chilly round of miniature golf, the all-night party ended with breakfast, and at 6 A.M. prom-goers headed home, tired but rewarded.

Many a Prom guest finds a few minutes to relax by sitting out a dance. Dave Wert appears to be asking his guest, Mary Craley, whether she is enjoying the evening. Apparently, Mary answered positively.

Dancing their way through the hanging vines on that unforgettable night, Shirley Tolley and guest, Jay Miller, and Don Green and his guest, Kathy Tangen, enjoyed the music provided by the orchestra.

to Love Life

Amid hanging Roman vines, Larry Raffensberger and Jo Shive appear intrigued, as Kirk Slenker and Linda Cooper throw pennies into a Roman fountain with a wish that all their dreams may come true.

Under a Roman pavilion flourish greenery, flowers, and the pianist and drummer from the Bill Collins Orchestra. While couples danced, this group played such melodious songs as "Moon River," and "More."

Before their evening of fun began, all couples attending the prom were greeted by our chaperons, Mr. and Mrs. Zerbe, Mr. and Mrs. Gibb, the junior and senior class presidents, and their guests.

You've Got to Love Life

Playing "Concerto in C Minor," Carolyn Brant is featured with the Concert Band. A very active group of our music department, the band presents many of the pleasing and cultural "Night of Music" performances.

Our favorite ensemble, the Lionnaires, Carolyn Brant, Galen Byrd, Dennis Smith, and Richard Smeltzer, present popular numbers in tune with our taste.

Annually, the Red Lion Senior High music department presents "The Night of Music," directed by Mr. George Ward and Mrs. Dorothy Adams. All musical organizations, including the bands, choruses, and other small groups, present classical as well as popular numbers for the listening enjoyment of everyone. This year the Concert Band played selections from West Side Story. Both the Mixed Chorus and the Girls' Chorus sang songs from Mary Poppins and other favorites. Some of the smaller organized groups which participated were the Brass Sextet, playing "Overture for Brass"; the Flute Choir, playing "Tropical Flutes"; and The Four Friends, singing "Today." Climaxing the evening, the grand finale, presented by the entire combined musical groups, concluded the performance with a selection entitled "Festival Finale."

A folk-singing group of four senior boys has been added to our musical parade. The "Four Friends," Barry Henshaw, Robert Kopp, Jon Stine, and Michael Raub, sing "Today."

The Tuba Choir of the Concert Band, Dennis Smith, Brian Spurley, Roy Fauth, Gene Warner, and Sharon Burgen, feature as their selection "Camptown Basses."

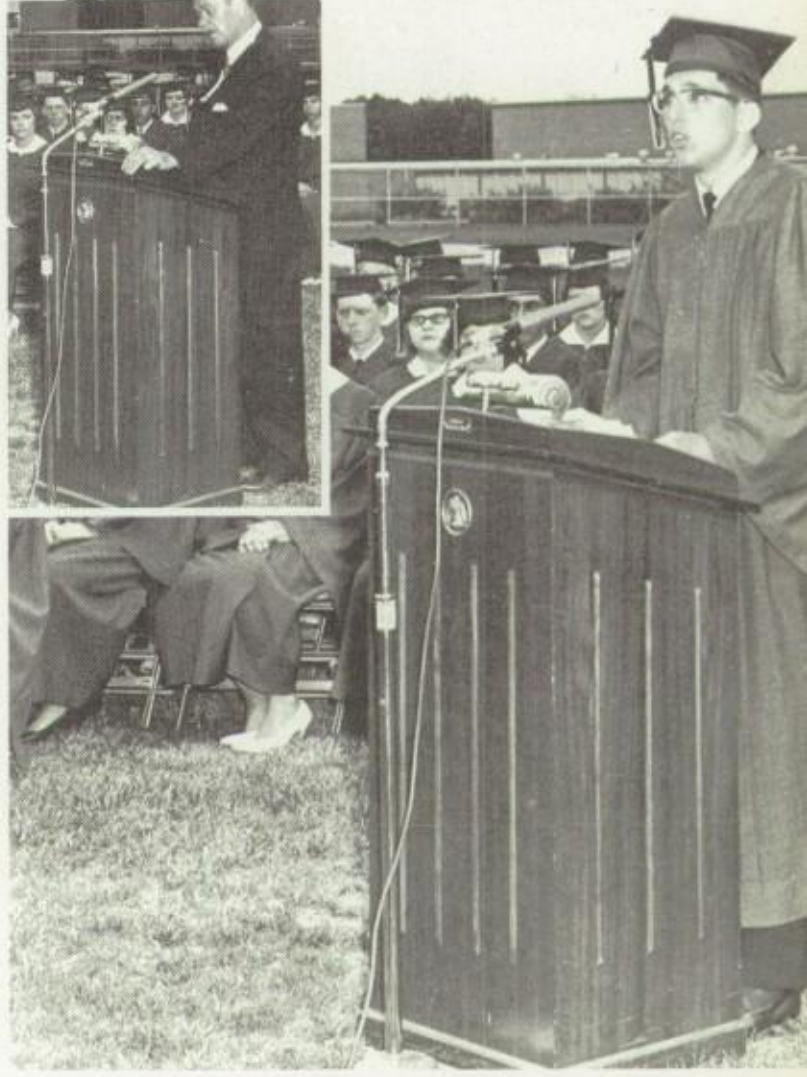
Sherry Knokey and Kerry Herman return their caps and gowns after an evening of mixed emotions.

Commencement had finally arrived, and all the seniors, donning grey caps and gowns, marched onto the Horn Athletic Field, which was again last year the scene of an outdoor graduation. A number of speeches pertaining to the "Great Society" were given by members of the graduating class, including James Delhamer, class president. Addressing the seniors, Dr. A. M. Paxton delivered his speech, "The Challenge of Your Generation." Presentations were then made by Mr. Donald Snyder, Mr. Thomas Zerbe and Mr. Raymond Gibb.

A processional line of cheerful and expectant seniors approaches Mr. Raymond E. Gibb and Mr. Donald Snyder, who hand out hard-earned diplomas to members of the graduating senior class.

Featured speakers at commencement exercises were Dr. A. M. Paxton and Chris Goldman.



Accepting her diploma from Mr. Gibb, Supervising Principal, Donna Emenheiser receives a firm handshake, her personal acknowledgment of twelve years well done.

Christmas Week

Christmas Week, Red Lion tradition, featured three main attractions, which highlighted and brightened up the school for the joyous Christmas season. Touching off this gay holiday was the Christmas dance. Previously, the dance was sponsored by the Student Council, but this year a new trend began. The sophomore class consented to take complete charge. "Christmas Fantasy" was their theme, and the music was provided by the Emperors. Another custom is the Christmas tree. In keeping with this tradition, a tree was placed in the lobby. This tree, which was beautifully decorated by the Art Club, was surrounded by presents and Saint Nick. Originality gained top honors for senior homeroom B-306. Each homeroom participated in this door-decorating contest, which was judged by faculty members.

Teen Beat — Cool and Rhythmic

Everyone has the beat, and teens swing with their own individualistic type of dancing. Students also dressed in the latest "mod" styles.

This was a night for sweethearts as the Freshman class provided entertainment for a most delightful Valentines Day. The theme of the dance was "Cupid's Capers" with music provided by the Druids Five. The evening was highlighted by the crowning of a King and Queen of hearts chosen from the senior classs. Top honors went to Sue Godfrey and Danny Smith. The dance proved to be a successful undertaking for our Freshman class.

Smiling Danny Smith and Sue Godfrey were elected by the student body to reign as King and Queen at the Valentine Dance.

"Cool" and "tough" were the Druids, a swinging teenage band. The music provided an approved beat for the many teens.

An annual affair, this dance was sponsored by the G.A.A. Jane Stabley present Richard Runkle and Danny Smith champ trophies.

Red Lion has the ball, but WSBA is on guard ready to grab the ball and dribble to their side of the court to score more points.

Faculty Defeat WSBA Good Guys

To top off the basketball season this year, Red Lion hosted a game between the WSBA "Good Guys" and the Red Lion faculty. The exciting evening was enlivened by the merry antics of the WSBA team and their mascot — Betty Bugle. Betty even scored several times for her team. The game ended victoriously for Red Lion at 62-61. The proceeds from the game went toward a school athletic scholarship fund set up by the Red Lion Area Teacher's Association.

Betty Bugle bear-hugs Mr. Fred Miller. Betty was responsible for many of the evening's antics, which boosted the enjoyment of the spectators, who anticipated each stunt.

Official referee helps Betty Bugle to position herself for the foul shot. Of the three allotted shots, Betty made one and scored a point.

"Bachelor Father"

Betty Posey and Ruth Ann Bennett disagree with David Young's choice of a place to hold the Prom. Rodney Haugh pretends to be bored since he feels sure he'll win the argument.

Victor Smith as big bully Moose flings Rodney Haugh to the floor in a rage of terror as Craig Ellis prepares to pounce in defense of his friend, Rodney. The disagreement, of course, is over a girl.

After a month of hard work, late hours, and neglected homework, yet loads of fun, the Junior Play was produced. Credit for the successful result goes not only to the characters in the play but also to the many volunteers who worked on committees. Special tribute goes to Mr. and Mrs. Hangen, who acted as faculty advisors. "Bachelor Father" was a three-act comedy about the difficulties besetting an uncle in raising his teenage niece, Kelly. Matters are further complicated when Kelly and her girlfriends go on strike against their boyfriends.

Debbie Arnold tries to improve Betty's appearance by adding jewelry to her pretty pink formal and dirty old sneakers, but Betty, a typical teenager, insists on a new dress for the Prom.

Two heads are better than one when it comes to applying make-up. Jon Stine looks on with uncertain anticipation as Faye Wambaugh and Connie Keeports add the finishing touches to Betty Posey.

"January Thaw"

Back in their old home in Connecticut, Tom Butcher and Sandy Anstine offer a prayer of thanks for a safe return. Mr. and Mrs. Rockwood were a great success, as was the whole Senior Class Play, "January Thaw".

Setting the scene for a "January Thaw" is a remodeled New England farmhouse in modern times. The Gage family has moved into their newly-decorated Connecticut home only to have the Rockwoods, former owners of the house, return to claim proprietorship. A tug of war erupts between the families and reaches a climax when the Gage's oldest daughter supposedly elopes with the Rockwood's son. Peace is restored when a blizzard forces the families to rely on one another for survival.

The cast included Debbie Arnold, David Young, Sandy Anstine, Tom Butcher, Ruth Ann Bennett, Greg Myers, Betty Posey, Mary Jo Galbreath, Ed Heindel, Craig Ellis, Victor Smith, Dennis Yohe, Jon Stine, and Pam Smeltzer.

David Young, who posed as Herbert Gage in the Senior Play "January Thaw," is helped into his bathrobe by his wife after spending a rough night on a hard cot in the living room of his restored house in New England.

Mary Jo Galbreath, Betty Posey, David Young, and Debbie Arnold, members of the Gage household, sit down for their morning breakfast. Mr. Gage seems to be having some difficulty convincing his family that cornflakes, olives, and molasses make an appetizing meal.

Neighboring farmers, Buzz Ellis as Uncle Walter, Ed Heindel as Matthew Rockwood, Sandy Anstine as Sara Rockwood, and Tom Butcher as Jonathan Rockwood, relate some good old-fashioned country doings and describe their wonderful trip out West.

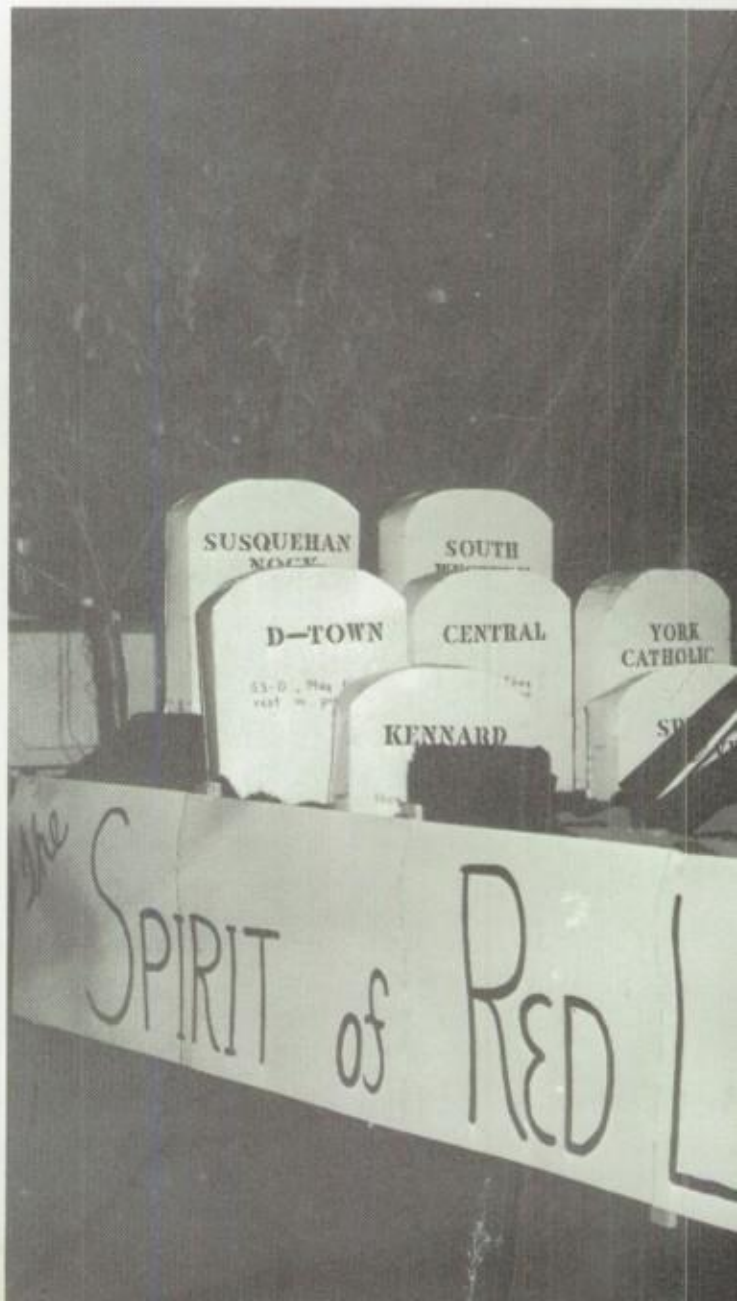
Centered in the decorated court of "Golden Autumn" is Queen Sue with her pretty court and their handsome escorts.

"Sailing the Sea of Success" was the theme for the mighty seniors' float, which took second prize.

Taking first prize, the juniors proudly displayed a float entitled "The Spirit of Red Lion." A large crowd of juniors supported the float as it passed through downtown Red Lion on October 29.

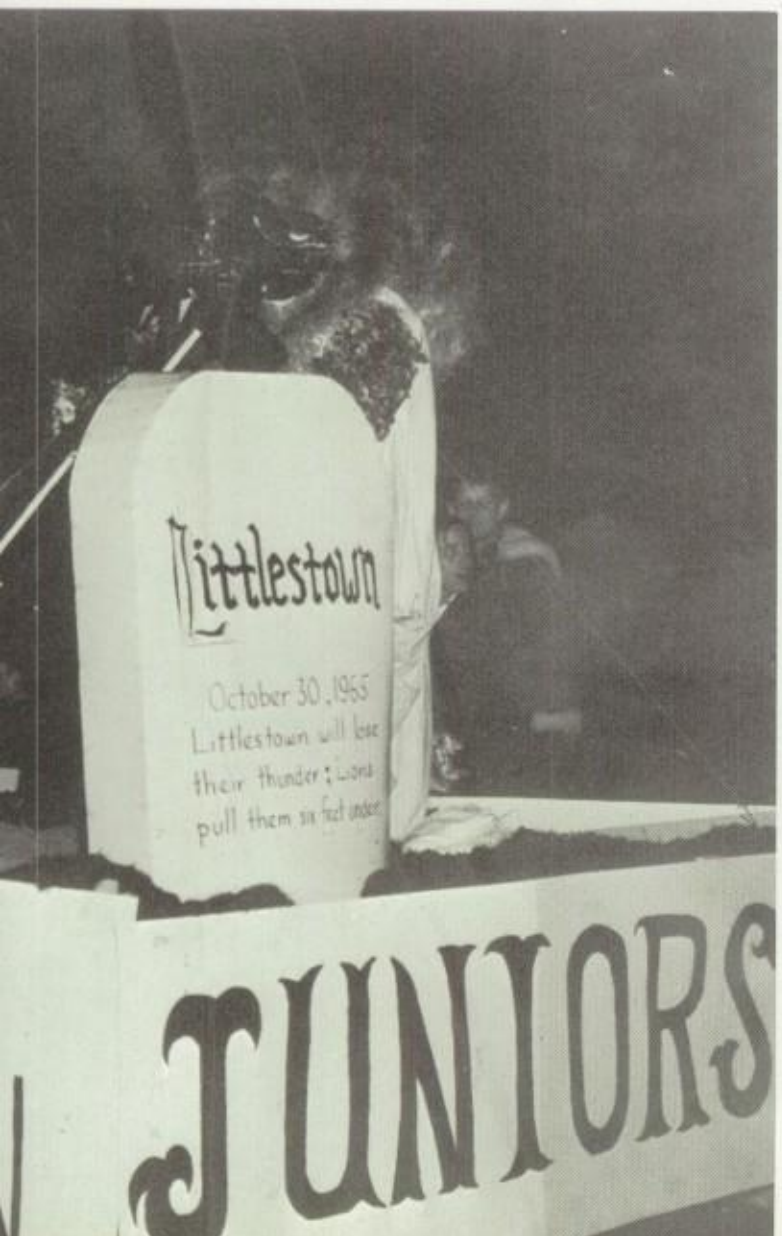


Football Game and Homecoming Parade

Homecoming

Beginning with the steady beat of a parade and ending with the soft rhythm of a dance, Homecoming was the most memorable weekend of the fall season. Despite the chill in the weather, on Friday evening all classes displayed their warm school spirit by exhibiting their colorful floats and responding exuberantly to a pep rally held in the square. On Saturday afternoon, thousands of fans cheered the mighty Lions on to their twenty-fourth victory. The highlight of the game was the coronation of Sue Godfrey as a very pretty homecoming queen. The weekend climaxed with the transformation of the gym into "Golden Autumn." With Queen Sue reigning, her subjects celebrated their victory with music and dancing. For the future alumni of Red Lion, Homecoming 1966 was a complete success.

"Golden Autumn" finds a majority of the student body dancing to the entertaining music of "The Statesmen."



Persistently, the Lions scored a 48 to 0 victory over fighting Littlestown at the homecoming football game.

Drama or Comedy

Barry Henshaw, Bob Kopp, Mike Raub, and Jon Stine are the Four Friends, popular folk-singing group.

ASSEMBLIES

The student body at Red Lion enjoyed varied assemblies throughout the school year. These assemblies were produced not only by the student clubs, but also by professional groups from outside our school. Mr. Pruth McFarland, a professional vocalist, presented a musical offering for our student body and faculty. One of the many student assemblies was prepared by the LION staff members to boost the sale of yearbooks. The awards assembly was one especially beneficial to the boys who participated in our sports program. Of course, our assemblies are always introduced and concluded by our Student Council president, Ed Heindel. The auditorium is not the only platform for presentations for enjoyment and educational background. Our "pep" assemblies for the football and basketball seasons were presented in the gymnasium.

Members of Cross-Country, Byron Kinard and David Lehman, receive their letters from Mr. Fred Miller, advisor.

Exuberant cheerleaders lead the entire student body in lively cheers During the pep assemblies the seniors usually win the cheeering contest which boost the team's morale.

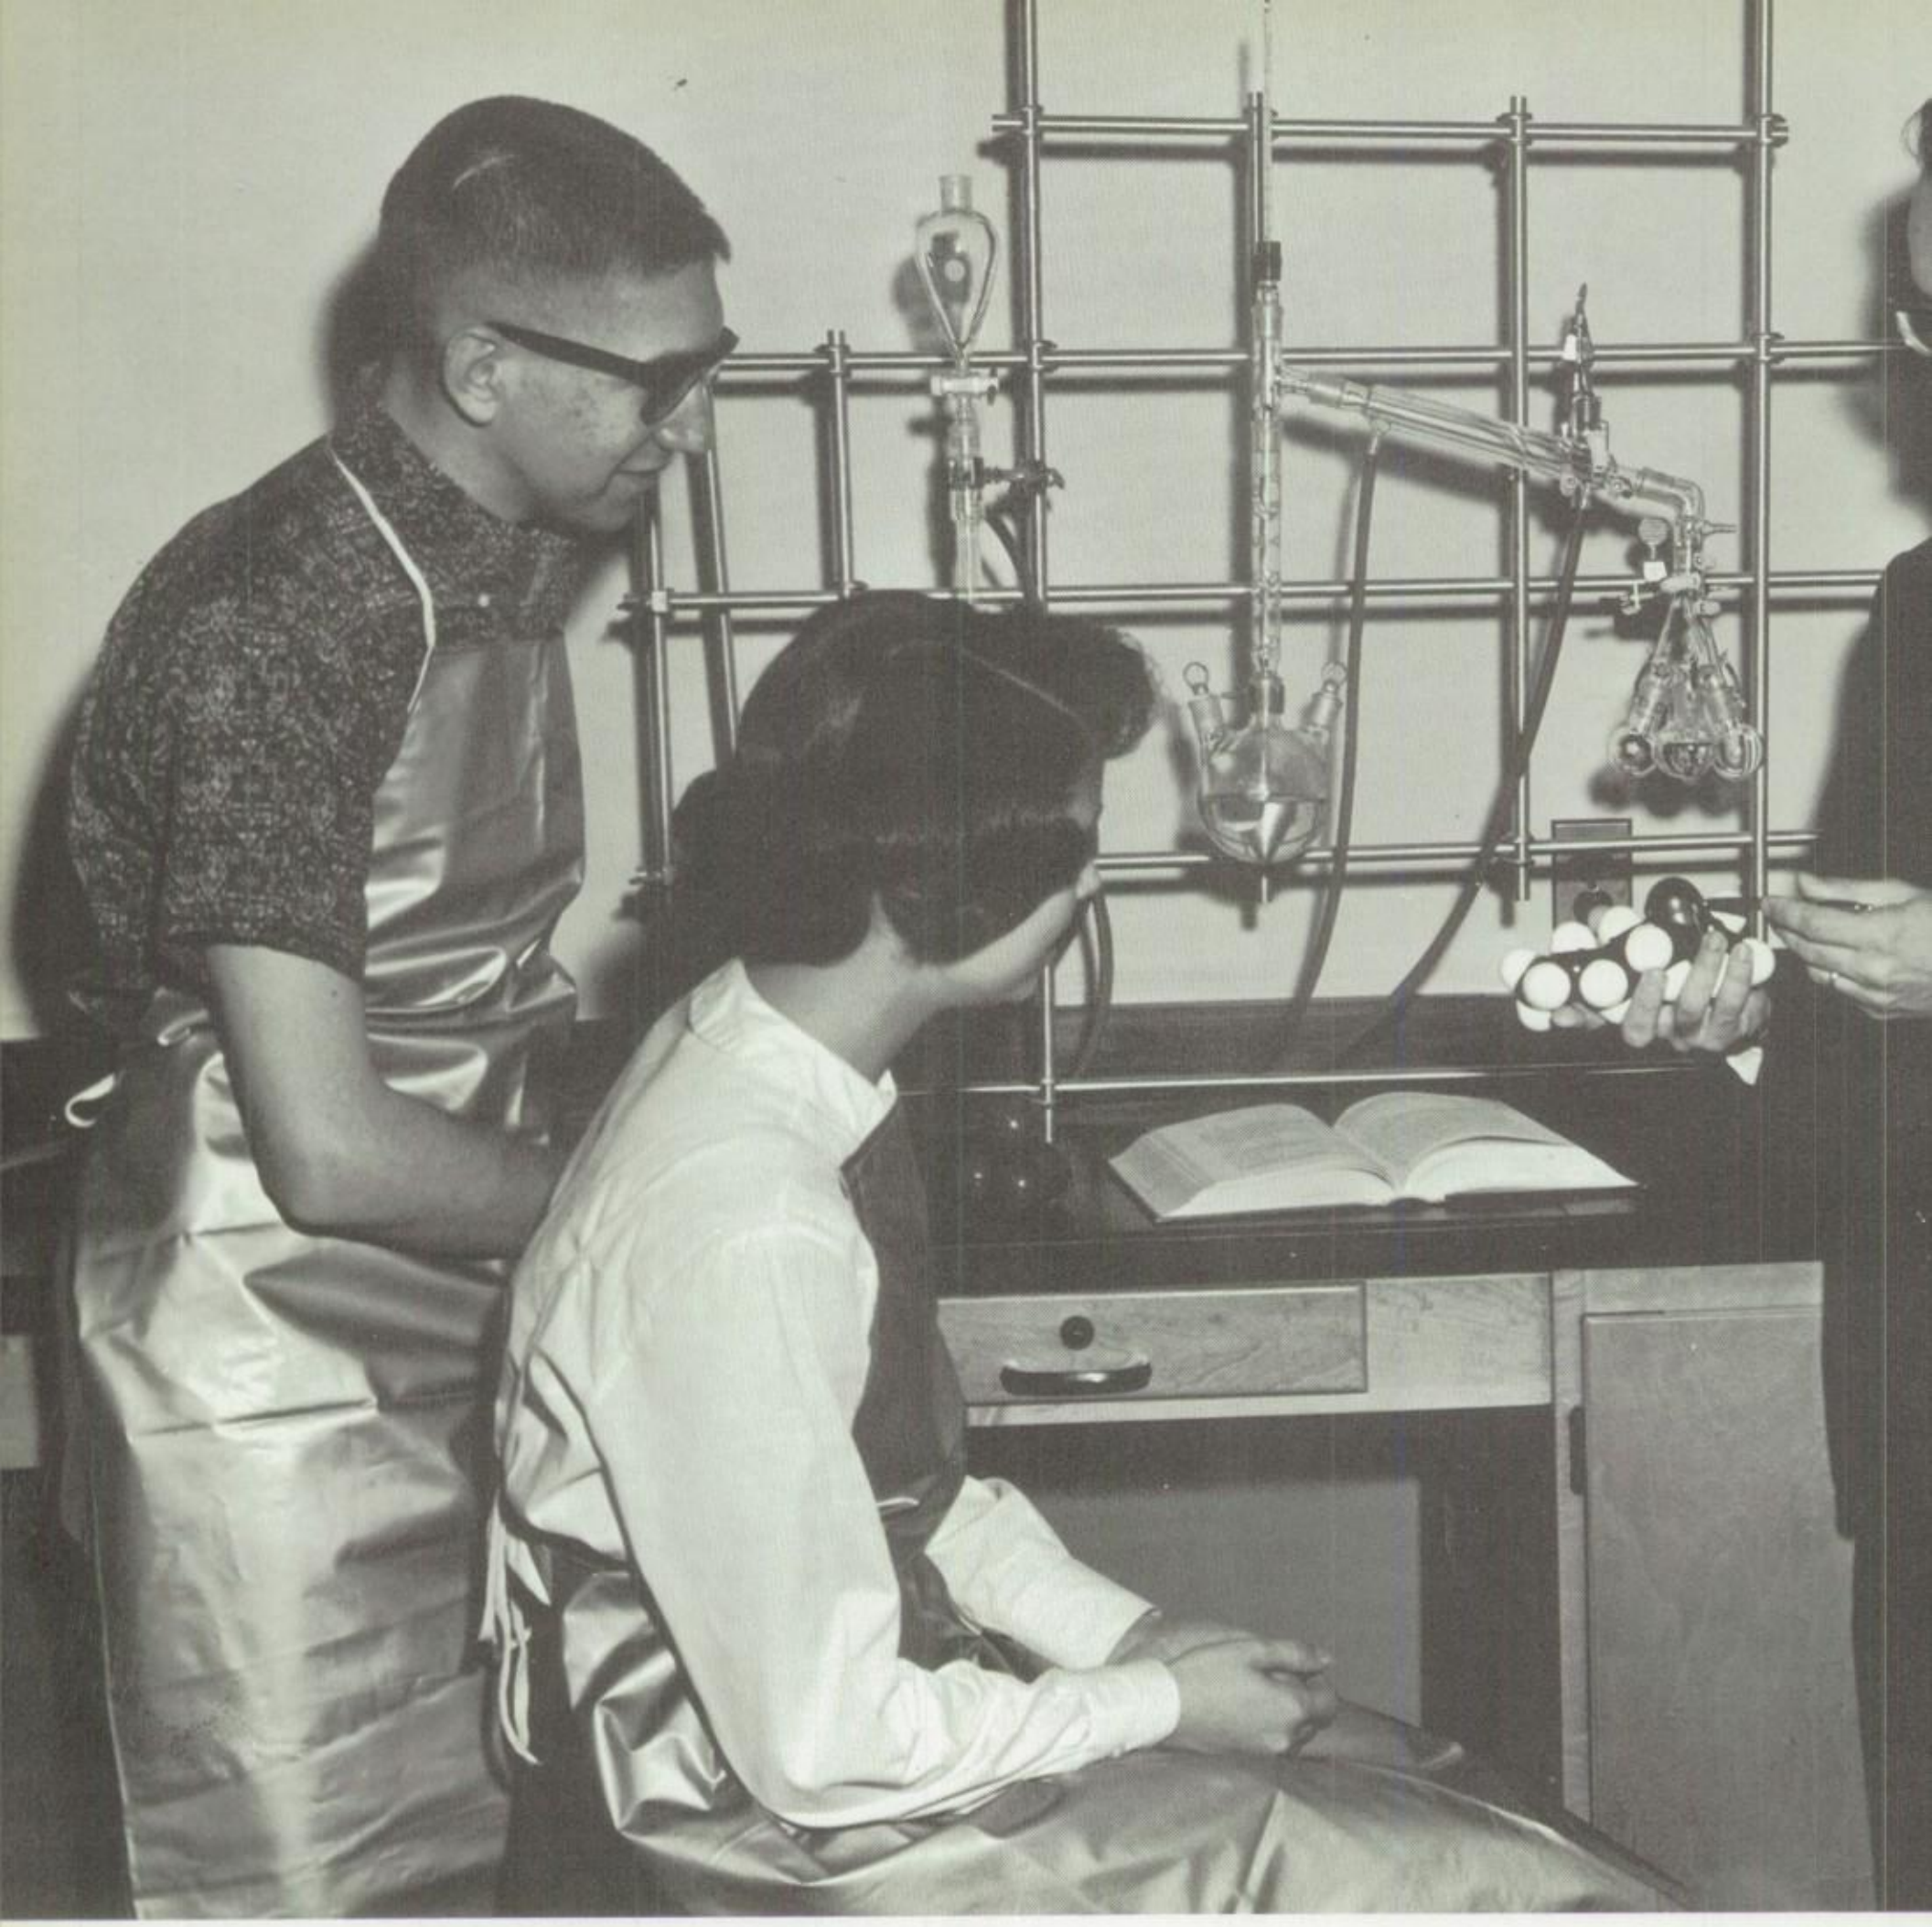
Professional or Amateur

Bill Blymire and Joel Reynolds perform in a comedy sketch during the annual exchange assembly from Dallastown.

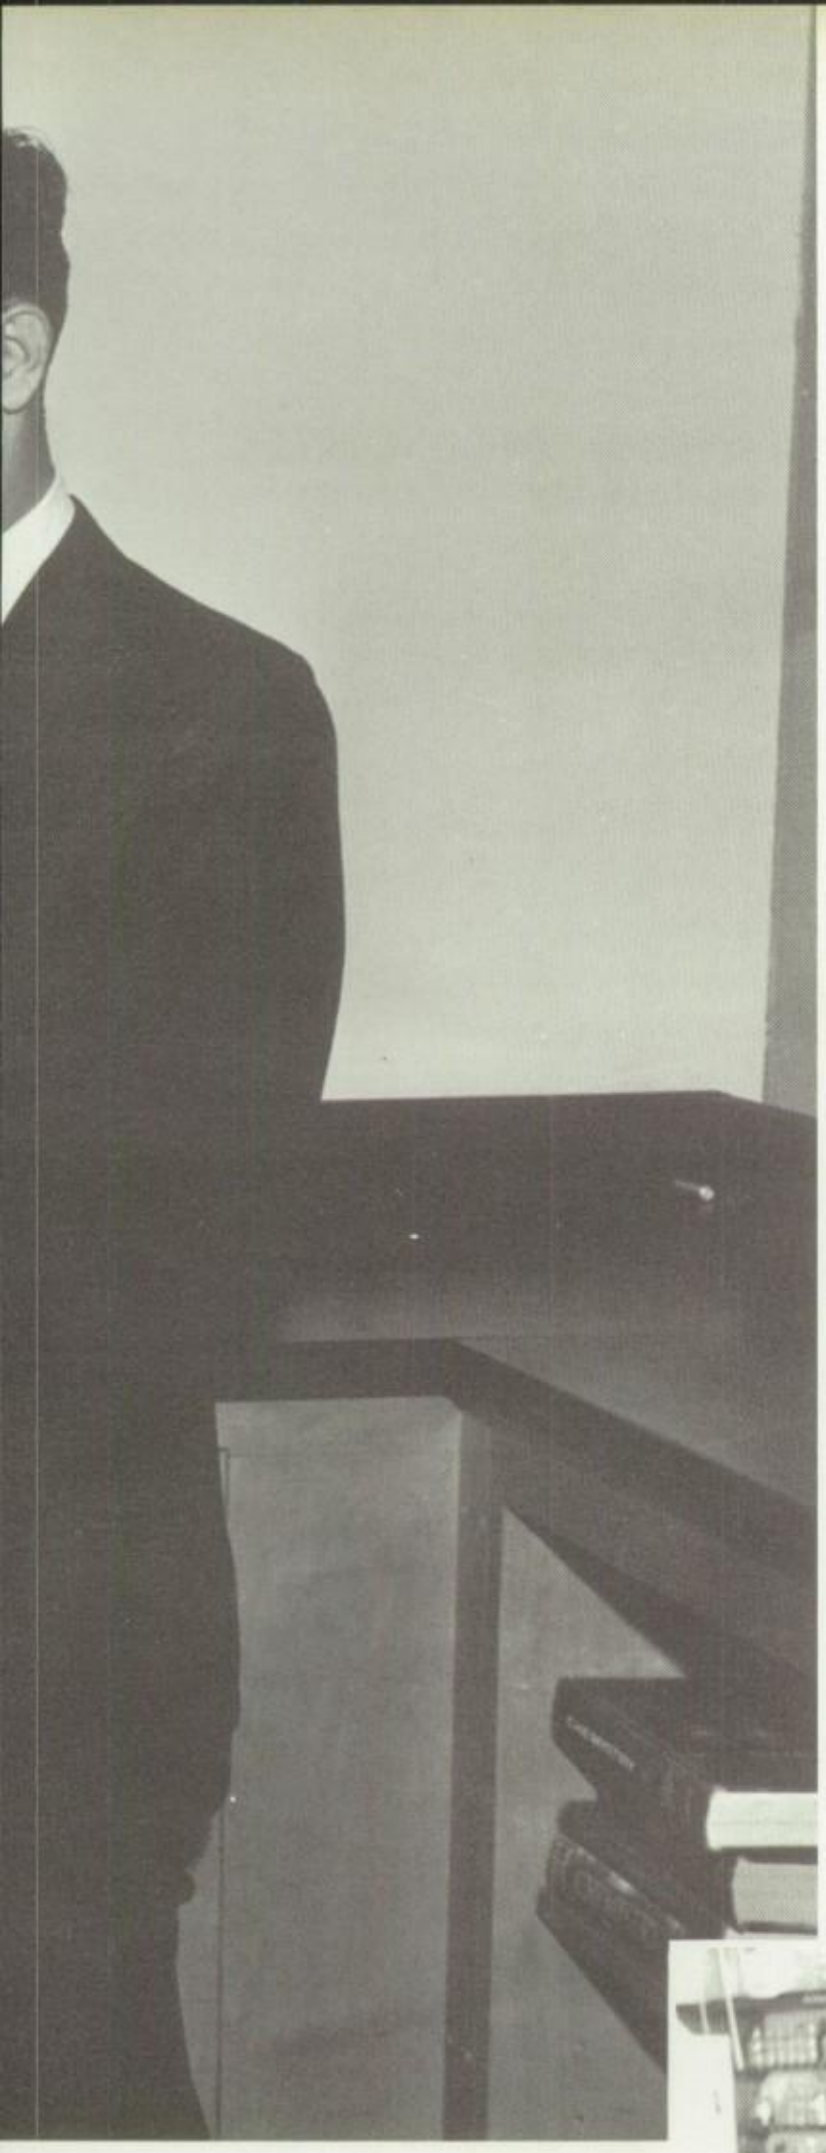
Delightful and entertaining was the voice of Pruth McFarland, who sang a variety of spiritual as well as popular and ballad songs.

An interesting guest from Hungary, Mr. Pfeiffer, spoke about Communism. Everyone paid strict attention when Mr. Pfeiffer described school and home life under strict observation.

The LION promotion assembly was a successful production of OOLION. Carroll Ehrhart portrayed Messie Galore and Victor Smith posed as Ionic Bond.



Cultural Advisors



Executive and

Important matters are discussed in this office, which functions to supervise and discipline. George Emenheiser has just completed a session with Mr. Gibb.

Mr. Raymond E. Gibb, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Supervising Principal . . . As the head of our school system, Mr. Gibb is kept busy striving for the betterment of the school.

Mrs. Arlene Gilbert, who spends her entire day just keeping up with our busy school, is secretary for our Supervising Principal.

To The Students

New opportunities, new challenges, and new responsibilities are constantly presenting themselves to each of us. Modern man is both initiating and facing more changes than the sum total of all changes and innovations faced by all previous generations. Truly, we are living in challenging and exciting times. Advances in industrial development, scientific research, communication, transportation, and computative skills have reached points beyond the imagination of even the most learned people living at the beginning of the Twentieth Century. Yet we have every reason to believe that the explosion of knowledge has just begun.

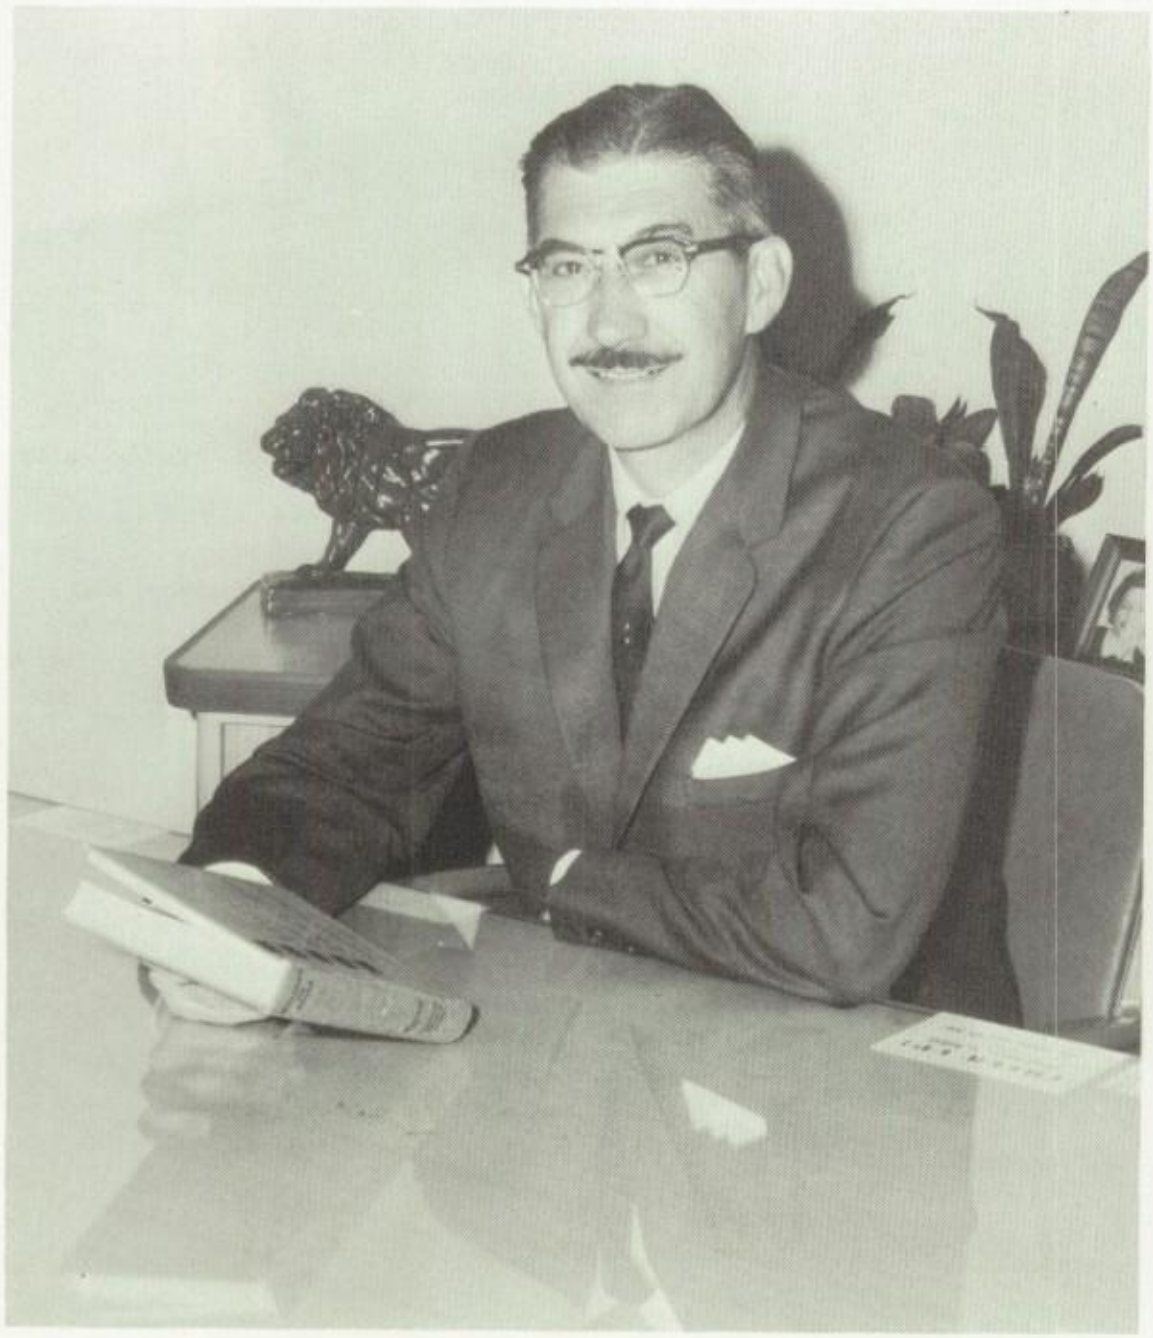
Knowledge is not merely a luxury. It is a necessity. All of us must strive to the best of our abilities to acquire the necessary knowledges and skills that will enable us to work and to live creatively.

Nor is it enough to merely know. We must understand. We need a set of real values to make our lives worthwhile, not merely to ourselves but to our fellowmen as well.

Sincerely yours,

Raymond E. Gibb

Secretarial Offices



Mr. Thomas E. Zerbe, B.S., M.A. . . High School Principal . . . As a leader, Mr. Zerbe is always present to guide high school students.

Our supervisors can be witty and gay as well as serious and stern. As Mr. Zerbe jokes, Mr. Tschop smiles appreciatively.

To Our Students

Your education is by nature slow and time-consuming — yet challenging and rewarding. It is a two-way process of teaching and learning in which your teachers serve as your guides and counselors whose function it is to motivate, explain, demonstrate and clarify. But the real purposes of education are best achieved when you, the students, are inspired to find out things for yourselves.

Learning is aided by teaching — but only "aided." The mere act of listening to sage statements or an array of facts does little for anyone. The art of learning is an active rather than a passive process which does not end each afternoon or each school year; it must be a continuing process which does not end . . . until you do.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas E. Zerbe

Mrs. Nona Burke, Mr Zerbe's secretary, pauses momentarily from her busy schedule to pose for the Lion.

Assisting Everyone

LONG, ALICE W., R.N., B.S. . . . Home and School Visitor . . . When not working on her Master's Degree at Millersville Graduate School, Mrs. Long finds time to sew, paint, and golf.

SEITZ, CARL E. . . . Mr. Seitz is beginning his eighth year of keeping our school records in order. When not occupied with these jobs, he enjoys hunting, listening to music, and reading poetry.

STABLEY, GARY W., B.S. . . . Mr. Stabley is Business Manager at Red Lion. When he's not working at this task, he enjoys woodworking, ice skating, and skiing.

TSCHOP, ROBERT P., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Mr. Tschop is our Assistant High School Principal. This is his eleventh year at Red Lion.

The office staff includes Betty Craley, Eileen Shelley, Nalda Tschop, June Miller, Colleen Grove, and Flo Harbaugh.

JOHNSON, DONALD J., B.S. . . . Mr. Johnson is our Driver Education teacher. His extracurricular activities include coaching golf. This summer found him golfing, camping, and teaching summer school.

WARD, GEORGE A., B.S., M. Ed. . . . Musical activities at Red Lion keep Mr. Ward busy. He is in charge of Band, Orchestra, Boys' Chorus, and Dance Band. This summer he directed the York City Band.

WINEY, CHARLES W., B.A. . . . Mr. Winey teaches Art, helps with the Senior and Junior plays, and is in charge of Prom decorations. This summer he went to summer school and to Florida.

Mr. Ward conducts the band, one of the many organizations he directs.

Physical Education

Our capable Physical Education Department would be among the first to inform Our Town that gym class is not all play and no work. Since it is a state-required course, every student must participate. The teaching methods used by these instructors have been greatly assisted in the last five years by the addition of a hockey field, archery and tennis equipment, a ping pong table, and numerous other facilities.

Art

The desire to express oneself is of utmost importance in our complex world, and our art department provides students with such an outlet. Projects ranging from hooking rugs to sculpturing in clay, plaster of paris, wood, or stone can be undertaken. A favorite pastime of our art students is painting with water colors or oil. The art course also offers copper enameling, ceramics, pencil sketching, pen and ink drawing, and lettering. Whether this course is taken for future vocational purposes or for an appreciation of our culture, the enrichment gained will be beneficial.

— Mobile Skills

FITZKEE, RONALD E., B.A., M. Ed. . . . Mr. Fitzkee is our Football and Baseball Coach at Red Lion. He is advisor to the Varsity Club and also to our Student Council. He enjoys athletics in general.

DOWNS, BARBARA M., B.A. . . . Miss Downs is our new Health and Physical Education teacher. She is in charge of Cheerleading and Tumbling Clubs. She enjoys sports and oil painting.

SMITH, ERNESTINE M., B.A. . . . Mrs. Smith teaches Health and Physical Education. Her extracurricular activities include G.A.A. and Dancing Club. This summer Mrs. Smith toured Canada and the Midwest.

NITCHKEY, CHARLES R., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Mr. Nitchkey instructs boys' Health and Physical Education classes. He enjoys hunting, fishing, and studying the Civil War. This summer he worked with young people at the Red Lion Playground.

Mr. Winey encourages students Craig Snell, Linda Schell, and Cathy Ness to expand their artisitic ability by designing their own mosaics.

Justine Barshinger prepares to take a lesson in driving from Mr. Johnson, our Driver's Education teacher.

Dr. Holland administers first aid to John Trout, injured during a play.

Home Economics

UHLER, FLORENCE G., B.S. . . . Home Economics; Home Ec. Club advisor. During summer, Mrs. Uhler attended workshops where she studied crafts, her favorite hobby.

YODER, RUBY, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Home Economics. Mrs. Yoder's many hobbies include knitting, playing bridge and swimming. For a summer vacation she enjoys camping.

EVELER, ROBERT L., B.A. . . . Algebra I, Hunting and Fishing Club advisor. This past summer Mr. Eveler taught mathematics during summer school here at Red Lion.

During Home Economics class, Paulette Lieberknecht prepares a full course lunch. The girls spend one complete semester cooking and another semester sewing. Mrs. Yoder and Mrs. Uhler, Home Economics instructors, teach the many household techniques which prepare girls for future tasks as homemakers.

Mrs. Yoder assists Mary Craley, one of our future homemakers, at the sewing machine. Sewing is a very important part of Home Ec. I.

— Mathematics

MILLER, FRED E., B.S., M.A. . . . Algebra, Plane Geometry; Junior High Track and Cross-Country coach. Mr. Miller enjoys bowling. This summer he coached baseball for boys.

MILLER, EMMA-LOUISE, B.S. . . . Business Math; Basic Math; Consumer Math; Typing; Business Club advisor. Mrs. Miller toured western United States by a travel trailer this summer.

ZIEGLER, DAVID, B.A., M.A. . . . Algebra; Plane Geometry; Trigonometry; Senior Math Club advisor. Mr. Zeigler's last summer's activities included golf and tennis.

STOVER, J. ROBERT, B.S. . . . Algebra II; Advanced Algebra; Trigonometry; Ticket sales. His summer activities included summer school and several trips.

Home Economics

Training the girls of our high school to become good homemakers is the main purpose of the Home Economics Department. The Home Ec course helps girls to become better adjusted for the future, when many will take on the busy role of wife and mother. Most the time spent in Home Ec class is devoted to sewing and cooking; but other subjects are taught and include needlework, crafts, knitting, child care, dietary study and home management.

Mathematics

To many students mathematics was once considered a dull subject, merely a matter of memorization and drill work. Now, the student actually enjoys the subject because instead of memorizing 2 x 4 = 8, he now learns why 2 x 4 = 8 and develops an avid interest in discovering many of the mysteries of mathematics. Three years ago Red Lion began experimenting with the modern math system. Now tenth graders are studying Modern Geometry and the eleventh grade student studies Advanced Algebra. Heretofore, Algebra II was studied in 10th grade and Plane Geometry in eleventh grade. The success of the program at Red Lion cannot yet be told because the program is still too young. But math teachers agree that the program is worthwhile because the high school student is now able to study more math in school and therefore has a better understanding when he enters college.

Mr. Eveler explains the basic mathematical fundamentals to an Algebra I student who ponders over an algebraic expression.

English

Are you looking for a good book to read, or do you want to learn how to correctly punctuate a sentence? Whichever is the case, you'll certainly find your answer during one of your years of English. The first consists of an introduction to a new realm of literature in addition to constant drill in grammar. Required reading is Homer's Odyssey. Grammar is also a major part of sophomore English. These second-year students are presented Shakespeare's Julius Caesar to read and analyze. American literature is the theme of junior English. Serious reading such as The Scarlet Letter and The Red Badge of Courage is counteracted by the delightful tale of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn. A research paper is required of juniors. English literature is undertaken by seniors as they study our language development. Shakespeare's Macbeth and Chaucer's Canterbury Tales are read and studied. No course offers as much variety as English. No matter what your literary taste, you are bound to come across a work interesting to you. Besides literature, grammar is also an important phase of any high school English course.

COREN, DAVID, B.M. . . . English. His hobbies are music, chess, and reading. This past summer he spent his time studying.

ADAMS, DOROTHY S., B.S. . . . English; Reading; Music; Girls' and Mixed Chorus advisor. During last summer, Mrs. Adams vacationed in England.

KEEPORTS, MARIE, B.A., M.A. . . . English; English Department Head. Miss Keeports' pastimes include traveling, knitting, and reading. She traveled to England in the summer.

Foreign Languages

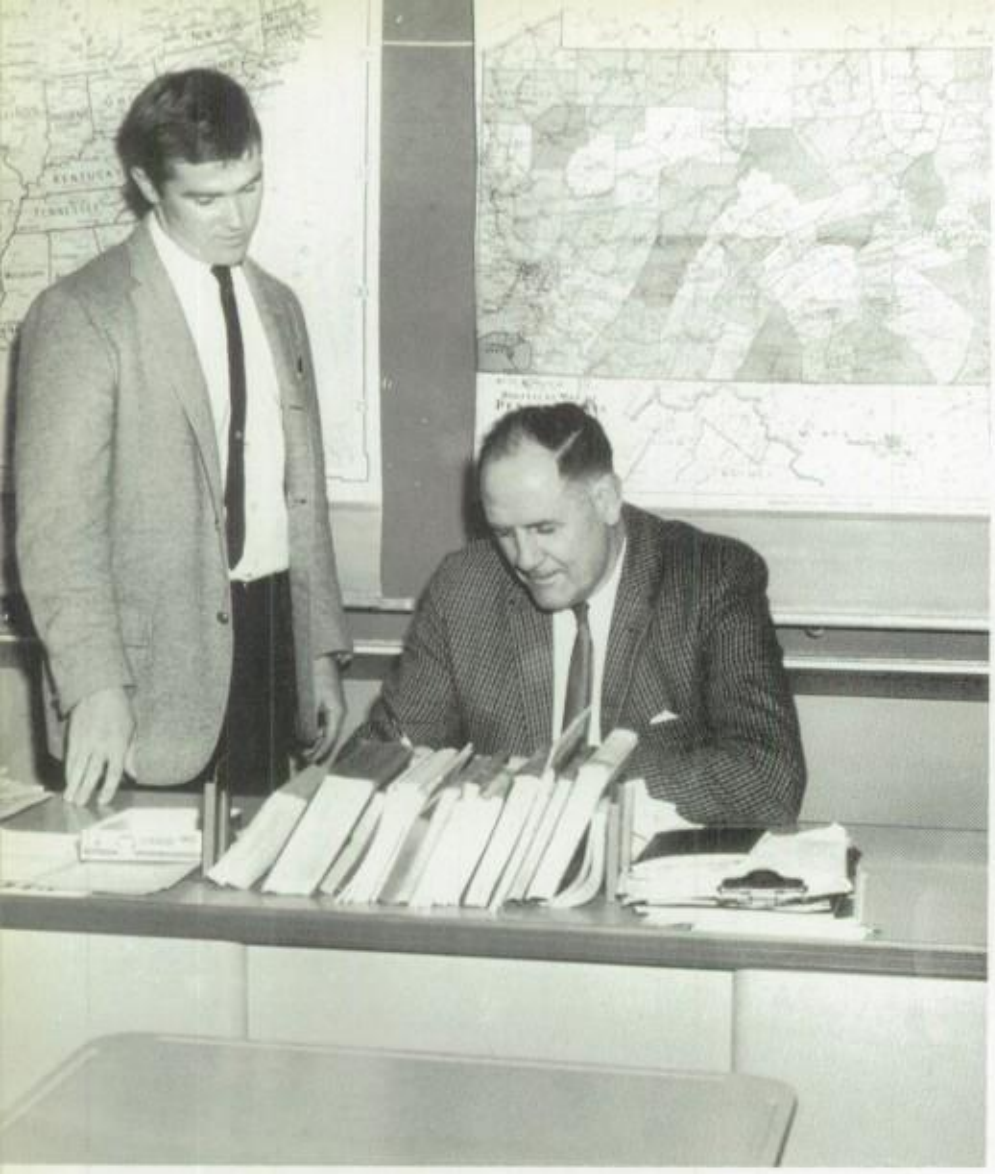
The study of foreign language is a binding agent in the creation of mutual trust and understanding throughout the world. Languages taught at Red Lion are offered to every student in the school. Latin is the selection of those who wish to study more closely the origin of various other languages such as English or French, or those who wish an insight into the life of early Rome. Compositions are written and skits are performed, and if deserving, advanced Latin students are inducted into the Latin Honor Society. French is pursued by many young LIONS, some of whom remain with the language during four years. There is much conversation in French and students are taught to read by using Paris Match, a French magazine, and French books supplied by our library. A new approach in recent years is the audio-lingual, using records and tape recorders. Last but not least, a few of the more energetic students study German. These students converse in German and also complete projects to widen their knowledge of the German people and their language.

A difficult course, German, is instructed by Mr. Hugh Miller, Linda Boeckel places on the blackboard one of her sentences for correction.

MILLER, HUGH, B.S. . . . Shop math; Basic Math; German I, II, III; Photography advisor; Photography Club advisor. Taking time out from shooting pictures, Mr. Miller took a trip to the World's Fair.

NONEMAKER, LINDA S., B.S., M.A. . . . French II, III, IV. When not studying French, Miss Nonemaker enjoys listening to her hi-fi. Seven weeks of her summer were spent at a summer school in Vermont.

STOVER, MELANIE R., B.A. . . . French I, II; English IV; Yearbook alternate. Mrs. Stover enjoys reading, ice skating, and traveling. During the past summer, Mrs. Stover attended school.



Mr. Thomas Irwin, student teacher from Millersville, listens intently as Mr. Hangen explains several teaching methods in Political Science. Mr. Irwin is one of several student teachers spending part of his senior year instructing a class.

Historical Facts

History

To take students back into the past and to relate such learnings to the present is the task of our Social Studies department. History is no longer a matter of mere memorization of facts and dates, but rather an intriguing non-fiction record of ancient and modern people (of course, dates are still learned in association with the many acts of note, both famous and infamous, of the past). These fascinating journeys into past and present are the responsibilities of classes in Civics, American History, and World History. Economics, a semester subject, takes us into the financial world of the American system of production, spending, earning, and saving. Political Science, likewise a half-year course, delves into problems of government and democracy. From all these courses we gain a better understanding of the reasons countries go to war to fight for supremacy; the historical events that have led us into the modern era; and the mechanics of our organized system of government, which, though defective, is, in our opinion, the best.

HANGEN, PAUL I., B.A. . . . Political Science; Civics; Scorekeeper and Clock Operator. A sports enthusiast, Mr. Hangen enjoys just about any sport of the season. He is also an avid bridge player.

FRITS, CLAIR A., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Sociology; Political Science. During the summer Mr. Frits takes time to go fishing, his favorite pastime. Also, Mr. Frits attended Penn State University.

MYERS, HAROLD M., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Economics; Civics; Junior Class advisor. Mr. Myers spent most of his summer teaching American History here at Red Lion. He also found time to vacation at the seashore.

JONES, DONALD L., B.S. . . . World History; American History. Listed among Mr. Jones' pastimes are hunting, sports, and band. An enjoyable trip to Ocean City, New Jersey, took up some of his vacation.

— Economic Data

A group of American History students listens intently as Mr. Jones explains land grants in Colonial America.

Rodney Haugh receives some helpful advice from Miss Lehman, Mr. Frits' student teacher from Millersville.

RHINE, CARLIN R., B.A. . . . World History; American History; Freshman Basketball coach. Mr. Rhine enjoys all sports, music, and reading. He also took a short trip to Atlantic City last summer.

SHELLENBERGER, DALE L., B.A. . . . Civics; World History; Guidance; Assistant Football Coach; Sophomore Class advisor. Last summer found Mr. Shellenberger working on his Masters Degree in guidance and counseling. He attended Temple University.

TOME, CHARLES, B.S., M.Ed. . . . American History; Senior Class advisor. Mr. Tome enjoyed a very active summer. He visited New York City; World's Fair; Washington, D.C.; Mt. Vernon; Gettysburg; Hershey; Harrisburg; and the Maryland Shore.

Greg Warner and Herb Smith take note of Betty Posey's equilibrium as she performs a test on the forces of velocity.

Science

Science is, indeed, the key to the future, and every student has an essential need for at least a basic course, such as General Science. General Science is the program to which freshmen are introduced. Films, demonstrations, and discussions provide students with a background in everyday science and prepare them for knowledge to come. This year, however, some of the advanced freshmen were encouraged to participate in the tenth grade Biology course. In Biology, students study environment, as well as all organic and inorganic substances through microscopic work and dissection. Advanced Biology is offered to students who have completed a course in Biology and Chemistry. Here, the cell is studied, along with other biological structures, such as the cat which is dissected. Physics and Chemistry students must work hard and study many long hours to complete the required course. They conduct many experiments, including a project which every student must select and develop in the course of a year. This project will then be displayed at the Science Fair in early spring. Physics and Chemistry are essential for the college-bound student who is interested in the wide field of science.

BECKLEY, JOHN R., B.A. . . . Biology; Life Science. An avid sportsman, Mr. Beckley enjoys fishing, hunting, and farming. Last summer he traveled to South Carolina.

MYERS, DANIEL E., B.A., M.A. . . . General Science, Life Science, Science Club advisor. Mr. Myers made his summer enjoyable by touring the United States and by playing golf.

KINSLEY, AMOS H., B.S., M.Ed. . . . General Science, Consumer Science; Ticket Sales. During last summer's vacation, Mr. Knisley found time to make a visit to the World's Fair.

Experimentation

SHAFFER, FREELAND E., B.S., M.S. . . . Chemistry, Physics. A scientist at heart, Mr. Shaffer can be found even in his spare time working with electronics. His interests also vary to fishing, fly tying, camping, and reading.

POSEY, CARROLL T., B.S. . . . Biology, Advanced Biology, Biology Club. Mr. Posey spends his extra time hunting and fishing. During Christmas vacation, Mr. Posey visited Florida.

Demonstrating the coarse adjustment, Mr. Kramlik exhibits the different ocular powers of the microscope. Biology student Mike Wert intently watches for technique.

Hilke Krieg, Susie Knotts, and Jon Stine use the new safety goggles while performing one of Mr. Shaffer's chemistry experiments.

Fundamental laboratory techniques and procedures are taught in Mr. Urey's ninth grade General Science class. Elementary experiments aid students for later advanced courses.

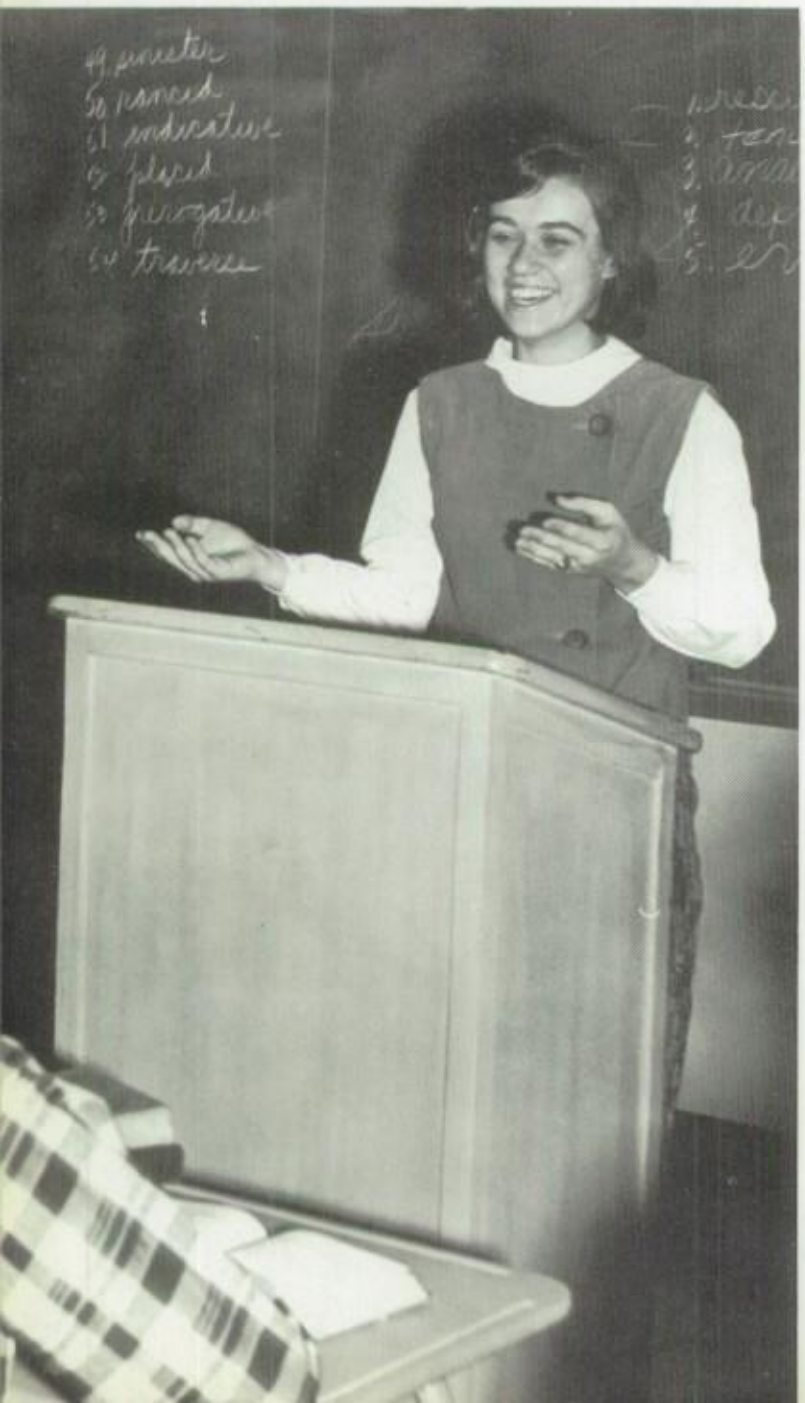
Challengers of Expressive and informative are the addresses of Public Speaking students after a semester of delivering speeches. Raeletta Brown's facial expressions are telltale of humorous revelation.

EHRHART, ALETA S., B.S. . . . Office Practice, General Business, Typing I, Personal Typing. When not busy with school, Mrs. Ehrhart enjoys knitting, crocheting, and collecting goblets.

ESPENSHADE, JEANETTE, B.S. . . . Basic Math, Bookkeeping, Football programs, Prom coordinator. Miss Espenshade teaches Personal Typing during the summer. She also enjoys reading and playing cards.

NYER, WILLIAM E., B.S. . . . English, Public Speaking, Stenoscript, Freshman Football coach. For relaxation, Mr. Nyer likes to farm and ride horses. He also enjoys hunting with Mr. Yinger.



Commercial Studies

Varied interests of pupils will always cause a demand for specialized courses; for example, the commercial sections. The skill subjects of typing, shorthand, and transcription prepare the business-inclined student to step confidently into the secretarial or clerical field. Typists spend countless hours at the typewriters with which classrooms are equipped. To improve rhythm, classes sometimes accompany an orchestral reading. Office Practice creates the atmosphere and conditions of the business office. To arm the business students with practical knowledge, the Commercial Department provides courses in General Business, Business Mathematics, Salesmanship, Economic Geography, and Bookkeeping. General Business acquaints students with the ordinary financial problems of adulthood: taxes, installment buying, banking, and insurance. Here, aids in the form of insurance policies, banking, social security, and income tax forms make classroom problems real. Bookkeeping classes progress from familiarity with accounting practices of single proprietorships to partnership and corporation accounting. Red Lion turns out many capable secretaries to prove themselves in the business world. With or without further training, graduating students find employment in the immediate area, or wherever openings occur.

Business World

STAMETS, GORDON A., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Typing, Shorthand, General Business, Transcription, Caps and Gowns. During the summer vacation, Mr. Stamets taught Personal Typing.

SNYDER, WILLARD C., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Commercial Typing, Personal Typing, Shorthand, Business Club, Ushers. Mr. Snyder's interests vary from traveling and mechanics to music.

YINGER, JAY P., B.S. . . . Consumer Math, Retail Selling, Economic Geography. Mr. Yinger spent his summer coaching the York City Baseball for Boys Program.

Not everyone is six feet six inches like Herb Smith, who seems to enjoy looking down at one of his teachers, Mr. Yinger.

Adding machines are essential equipment of business training. Everyone concentrates as Mrs. Ehrhart solves a problem for Louise Kilgore.

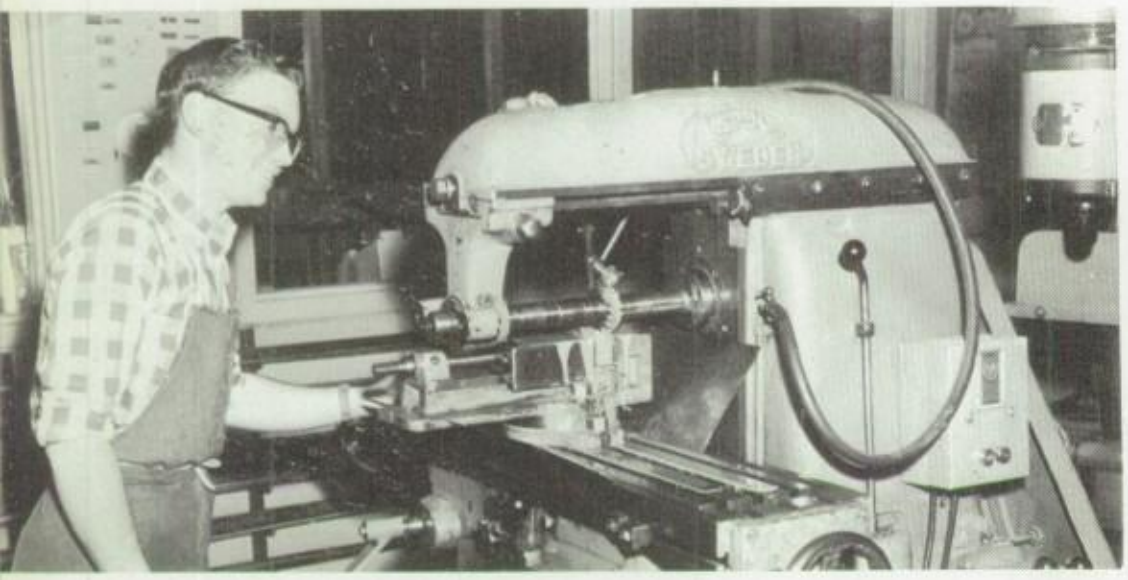
Practical Arts

AMSPACKER, WILLIAM D., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Mechanical Drawing. Last summer graduate study occupied most of Mr. Amspacker's time. He also enjoyed hunting and fishing.

BACHMAN, KENNETH, B.S. . . . Woodworking, Stage Set. Mr. Bachman spent his summer relaxing and working for his graduate degree.

MYERS, JOHN G., M.Ed. . . . Vocational Agriculture, Future Farmers', Pet Care and Horticulture Club, Automotive Club. Mr. Myers spent an interesting summer touring several of the Southern states.

Industrial Art students spend time working in the metal shop. Richard Craley makes use of the milling machine, a device for the leveling of metal.



Mechanical Drawing involves many complications. Mr. Amspacher and Randy Phillips explain to Bradd Sprenkle problems encountered when finding the dimension of a line.

George Emenheiser and Dale Neff under the supervision of Mr. Yorks operate the Little Giant Printing Press in order to finish the programs for "January Thaw."

Prepare Our Boys

Agriculture

For many of the Lions, high school is their final formal education. For this reason we must have practical subjects to meet student needs. One such subject is agriculture. The main goal of scholars taking this course is learning to farm. They learn the latest techniques in farming and in maintenance of equipment. These boys are given class study and discussion highlighted by field trips and demonstrations. Future farms will be well run by graduates of this course.

Industrial Arts

Industrial Arts, or "Shop" as it is more commonly called, plays an important role at our school. This course provides our boys with a variety of skills which will enable them either to find jobs after graduation or go on to technical schools. The various areas include a metal, woodworking and print shop. Besides preparing for future vocations, the Industrial Arts students now perform printing jobs for the school. Among these services, their printing of lunch tickets is a contribution which affects most of the student body. They also print posters and tickets for class plays and for most of the school dances.

Students of the Vocational Agriculture class watch intently as the technique of spray painting a truck is performed. Similar operations are demonstrated throughout the year.

WITHERS, LOWELL R., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Industrial Arts Metal Shop. Mr. Withers spent his summer playing golf and working in an industrial plant.

YORKS, WARD S., B.S., M.Ed. . . . Graphic Arts, School Printing. Mr. Yorks spent most of his summer on a camping trip to Alaska.

Capable Cooks

Maintenance

The efficiency with which our school is run depends upon our excellent kitchen and janitorial staffs. When school is in session, administration, faculty, and students alike descend upon the cafeteria for a well-balanced and nutritive meal. Meals are planned a month in advance so that the cooks well be prepared, all 180 days, for the mad throngs that rush each day into the C-wing during the three lunch shifts. The cooks' daily schedule includes not only the preparation of the meal, but also the cleaning of the cafeteria after the noon hour, and preparation for the next busy day.

A little-explored area of our school is the kitchen. Here our amiable cooks, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith and Mrs. Ida Fauth, prepare tomorrow's lunch.

Serving lunch to the students, the kitchen staff prepares many platters with generous helpings from the planned menu. Mrs. Sara Grove and Mrs. Geraldine Ness face the counter.

Taking considerable time and effort, the cooks prepare a large kettle of soup for the 1,200 students. Mrs. Viola Schmuck and Mrs. Alma Smith supply the teamwork.

and Janitors Keep Our School Rolling

The upkeep of our fine school depends upon these efficient janitors with their thorough cleaning and countless repairing jobs. Mr. Ammon Markel, Mr. Wiley Flinchbaugh and Mr. Howard Reno are pictured.

The classroom is only one of the places which needs daily cleaning by Mr. Marvin Overmiller and Mr. Charles Blouse.

The library with its many shelves of books and rows of tables calls for the attention of our efficient janitors, Mr. Truman Ehrhart and Mr. Charles Williams, who clean every inch.

Today

The greatest day in any senior's life is graduation, the culmination of all the rewarding experiences that have passed through his life during his many years of schooling. Now the lively football games, the lusty basketball games, the lovely dances, and even all the competitive tests are over. A new life begins today for each senior who through his own educational preparation is ready to meet the outside world. Wearing grey caps and gowns and holding diplomas in hand, seniors proudly say their last farewells to their Red Lion Alma Mater. Tomorrow will lend itself to new opportunities for the 1966 graduates. Whether they be college, travel, marriage, or work, careers begin after this graduation day. Although graduation is a commencement in a senior's life, he will never forget his memories of those wonderful high school days.

Tomorrow

The roster of post-graduation plans for the class of 1966 spells versatility. Half the class will pursue higher learning at college, nursing school, or technical or vocational school. Some will enter upon the threshold of marriage when they complete the year. Many boys as well as some girls will enter some branch of the armed forces either for a few years or for a lifetime career. The balance of the class, upon graduation, will go out into a competitive business world as businessmen, secretaries, merchants and laborers. When the big day in June arrives, the more than 260 students of the class of '66 will be able to fulfill the many demands made by a very competitive world.

Music —

Since "Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast," no wonder so many seniors fill the musical groups at Red Lion! With term papers, exams, and just plain stacks of homework, seniors have every reason to be disturbed. Every fall those seniors with sufficient stamina march miles and miles at football games and in parades, but all are proud to be members of the Marching Band. For the winter months the bandsmen move indoors as they practice in the Concert Band. Other seniors enjoy exercising their vocal chords in the Mixed Chorus, Girls' Chorus, or Boys' Chorus while the more "swingin' " members of the senior class constitute the Dance Band. These musical organizations consume quantities of time and hard work, but the Night of Music, the apex of months of preparation, is a memory to be cherished by all musically-inclined seniors for years to come.

Sports

With the impact of a speeding bullet, the precision of a jet-propelled engine, our senior sportsmen, products of an Atomic age, dribble, bat, serve, or pitch that ball. No matter what the sport, efficiency is the key to our successful teams, which boast seniors as first string players. Whether the sport is football, basketball, baseball, or tennis, our players strive for and achieve high goals, with rewards to our team members of winning streaks, sportsmanship, team cooperation, and class support. After this year is completed, a new set of seniors will lead the school to more fame and honor. Striving for perfection is only an imaginary aim, but near perfection is a reality when a school has good leadership, citizenship and sportsmanship. Red Lion can proudly honor all these qualities in each of its sports.

From Holland

Dear Fellow Students,

When I first heard about your town I thought I would come in the middle of Indians because of the name "Red Lion." But when I came here I saw it was quite different and I was impressed by its beautiful houses and amazed by its big high school. So far I have enjoyed going to school very much, for everybody has been great to me. I'm sure when I go back I can tell many interesting things about Red Lion High, and I'll always remember the good time I spent here.

Sincerely,

Free Koningstein

Mighty Lions

What if the noble king of beasts vibrates the jungles with his mighty roar? So have the Lions of the class of 1966 echoed and re-echoed their enthusiasm throughout the halls of the Red Lion Senior High School. Whether winning a football game or presenting a play, they electrified those around them with their contagious school spirit. When they established a goal, they strove to achieve it, but, winning or losing, they concentrated all their energy on backing their team, their class, their school. Whether or not this class produces an Einstein, an L. B. J., Or a Sandburg remains to be seen; however, the class of 1966 will surely go down in school history as the top producer of enthusiastic school spirit.

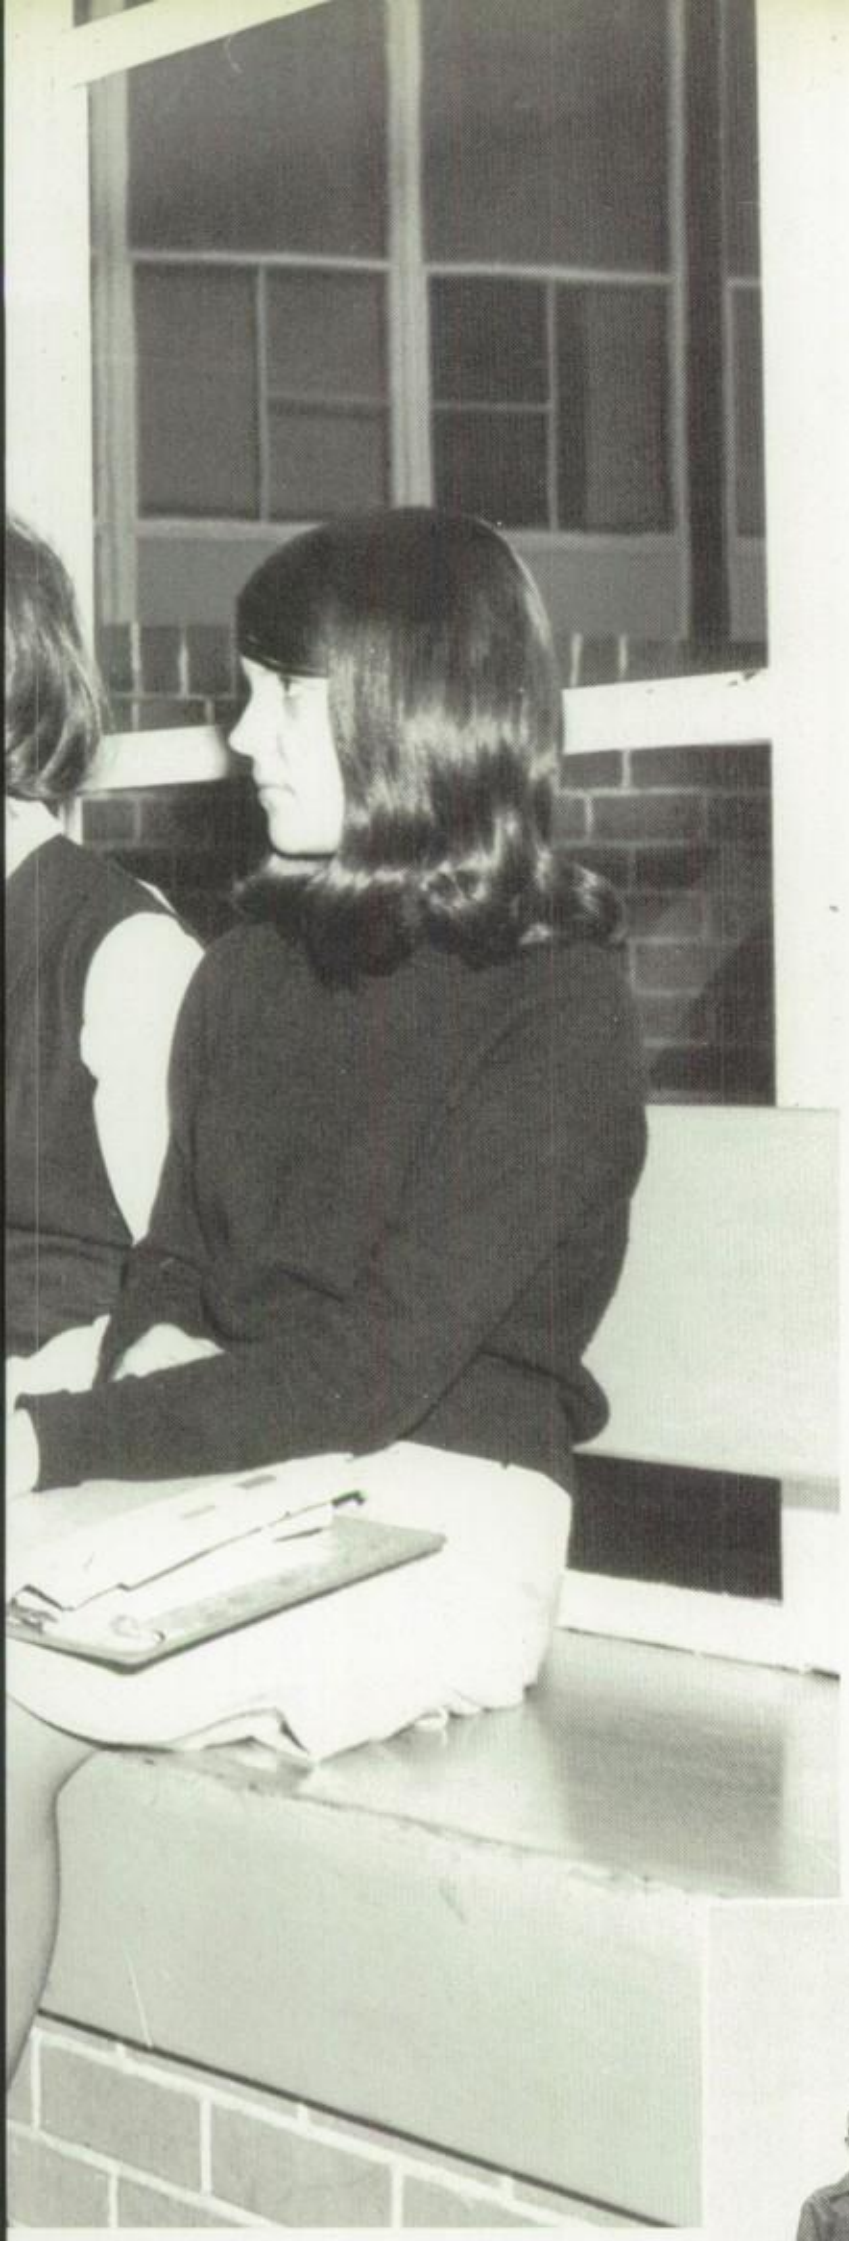
Today's Youth



Juniors Look Onward as Their Last

Junior

Fast approaching the zenith of high school life is the class of '67. We find them actively involved in extra-curricular activities. As athletes, they compose the backbone of the varsity football and basketball teams. On the feminine side, boisterous cheerleaders and marching majorettes are represented. A look at the honor roll shows that the juniors also have great scholastic ability. For the first time this year the juniors have an opportunity to show their theatrical talents by presenting their first class play. Looking forward to their last year, the seniors-to-be are already thinking about their class motto and colors.

Sophomores

With one full year of experience behind them, the sophomores have begun to take an active interest in school life. In many activities they provide major support; these members, the class of 1968, can be found anywhere throughout the school. They make up part of the cheerleading and majorette squads. They are the nucleus of the junior varsity football and basketball teams. These energetic students are quick to adjust to the many leading roles which they play in the life of our school. Willingly, the class assumes its share of the many high school responsibilities.

Frosh Enjoy the New School World

Freshmen

The first year in a senior high school where everything is new and strange could be a frightening experience, but for this year's class of Freshmen this was not the case. These industrious young Lions showed their enthusiasm from the start by participating in the marching band and many other activities. Although they did not win top honors on their homecoming float, they did receive honorable mention. With four years of valuable learning ahead, these upperclassmen of tomorrow have a lot to look forward to.

Energetic Freshmen Take Advantage

As Freshman Class advisor, Miss Myers offers helpful suggestions and possible answers to an inquisitive ninth grader, Lois McCune. Most often Freshmen inquire about their future years of high school and what they can do to better their class of '69.

When Homecoming arrives at Red Lion, everyone gets into the picture. Freshmen experience their first competition against upperclassmen. A chance to design, decorate, and win is offered when they display their class float in the parade.

Red Lion, the football town, is very proud of its team. Throughout the season the stadium is packed with spectators as Our Town fully supports its victorious team. The Lions have held the longest winning streak in the county and show promise of gaining the second straight championship in the Laurel Conference this year. In the summer our team was thoroughly conditioned at Camp Echo Trail when for one week the boys hiked, exercised and scrimmaged among themselves.

Our vivacious Freshman team begins another of their exciting basketball games as Jim Loyer jumps against a worthy opponent. Watching are Alan Flinchbaugh and Tony Moley.

Coach Carlin Rhine and team members form a huddle during time-out to gain needed advice for a victory.

Jim Loyer, jumping to score for Red Lion, gains two points. Defensive opponents proved fruitless when blocking failed.

Mat Matches

Trying with his all might, Ted Kreeger comes close to pinning his opponent. Wrestling is a relatively new competitive sport here at Red Lion.

The 1966 wrestling team consisted mostly of underclassmen, who have now gained experience and skill to be used in the year to come. Their initial match with Dover turned near defeat into victory, creating much anticipation and excitement when at the crucial moment Gary Ronemus pinned down a Dover student, bringing needed points to the home team. Red Lion looks forward to its first champion wrestling team and is hopeful that next year will see Red Lion the home of more champs.

Steve Shelley chips to the fifth green in one of the more important home matches.

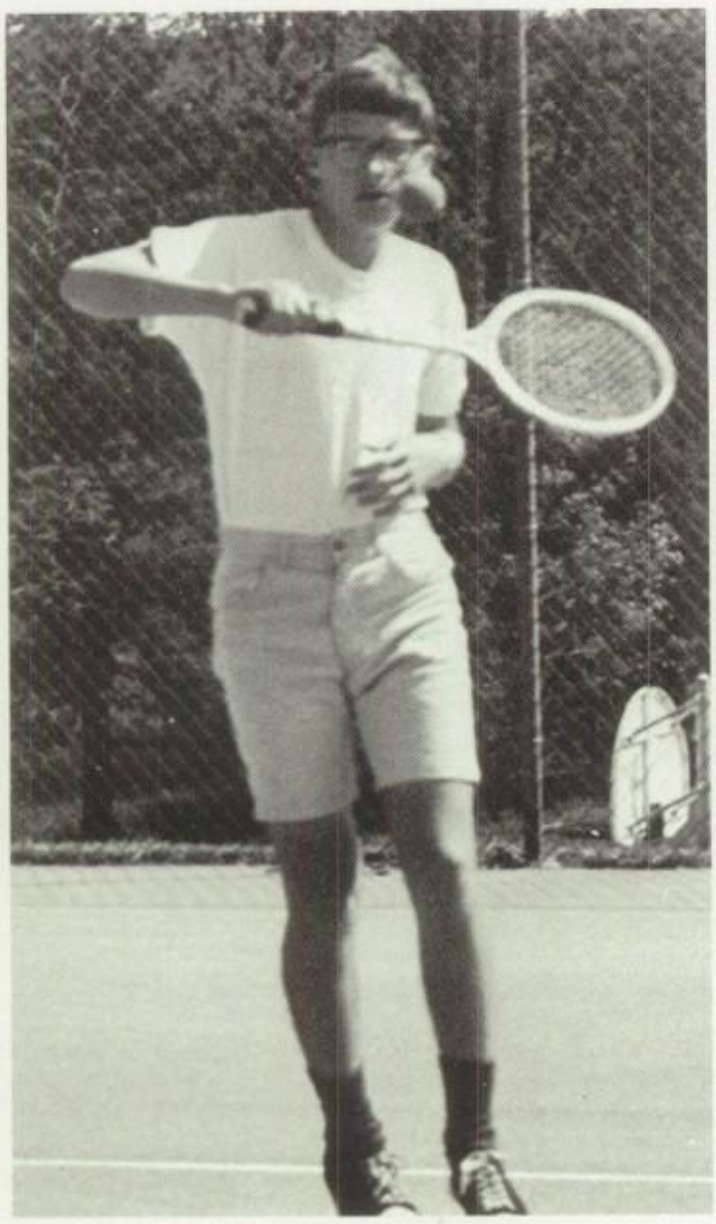
Springtime in Red Lon brings students out-of-doors to participate in sports. Golf is one of the best liked. Led by Mr. Donald Johnson, the Lions this season recorded seven wins and three losses. Brenton Downs, Alan Shelley, Richard Jennings, Jim Hively, Louis McKinney, Jim Zarfoss, and Mike Miller composed the team. Mr. Johnson termed the team, all sophomores save one, "Highly successful." He also stated with pride that the '65 golf team has set the best percentage record for golf that Red Lion has ever had. So it looks as if Red Lion can be looking forward to golf seasons even better than this year's.

Racket Enthusiasts

Each spring Red Lion comes alive with a variety of outdoor sports. Tennis is at present an intramural, but plans are under way to join in the fall the York County Interscholastic League. Although the spring of '66 is only the second season for tennis at Red Lion the popularity of the sport has grown. In early April the season begins on a volunteer basis. The director, Mr. Paul Hangen, conditions the members of the tournament and after careful consideration matches boys for singles and doubles. At the finish of the season in May, the tournament champion is determined.

Mr. Hangen hands the individual trophies to the tennis tournament champions, Kathy Clapper and Tim Sprenkle.

With a determined look on his face, Mike Raub returns a serve to his opponent.



Charles Klinger has just completed a hard serve to his opponent. A sports enthusiast, Charles is often found on the tennis court, sometimes competing against great odds.

Barry Keller hands David Lehman his first place card during a Cross-Country meet here at Red Lion when Central provided the competition.

1965 marked the first season of league competition in Cross-Country. Red Lion Lions had a losing season but the meets gave them the experience of real competition with other opponents. The first five runners were all seniors and the remaining league members were underclassmen. Next year these boys will be better prepared to meet their challengers.

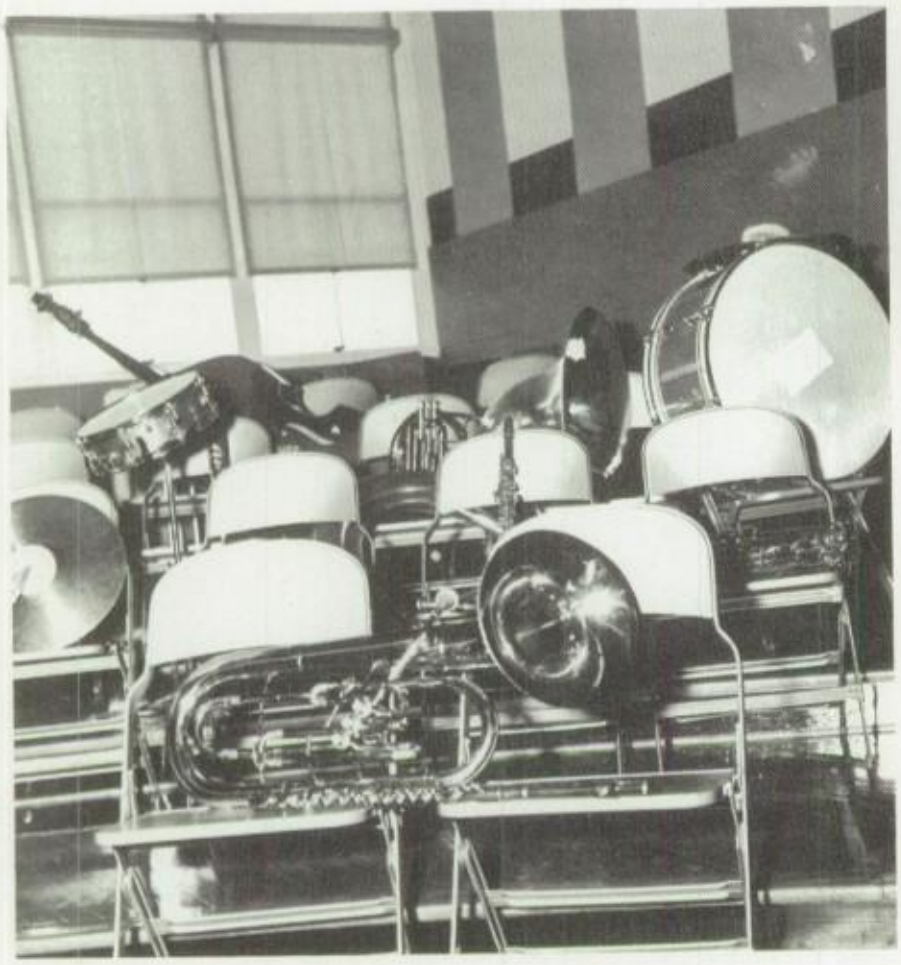
Concert Band

Music, often called the universal language, is deeply appreciated by the student body and faculty at Red Lion. Every year the various instrumental and choral organizations combine to present a Christmas assembly. Later, in the spring of the year, they bring us our annual Night of Music, presented for the parents and relatives, and anyone else who is interested in listening to good music. Some of our more talented students display their musical abilities in the Red Lion Area High School Concert Band. This is a musical group which was initiated only a few short years ago, but which has gone far under the direction of Mr. George Ward, head of the instrumental department. Among the outside-of-school functions in which our musicians participate is the Southern District Orchestra Festival, held this year at Red Lion, with six of our students performing.



A room frequently visited by students who have musical interests is the band room, used to store woodwind, brass, percussion, or stringed instruments.

Library Club

A vital organization in our school is the Library Club. Members have the responsible task of keeping books moving in and out of the library, tracking down magazines and reference materials, and making bulletin board and showcase displays. These young librarians also clean shelves, repair old volumes and return books to their proper places. A valuable background is offered to future librarians, and information on the inner functions of the library is provided to the students.

Fly Tying Club — Mr. Shaffer, a sports enthusiast, shows interested boys in the club the varied forms of fly tying. The Club has numerous members who are all avid fishermen.

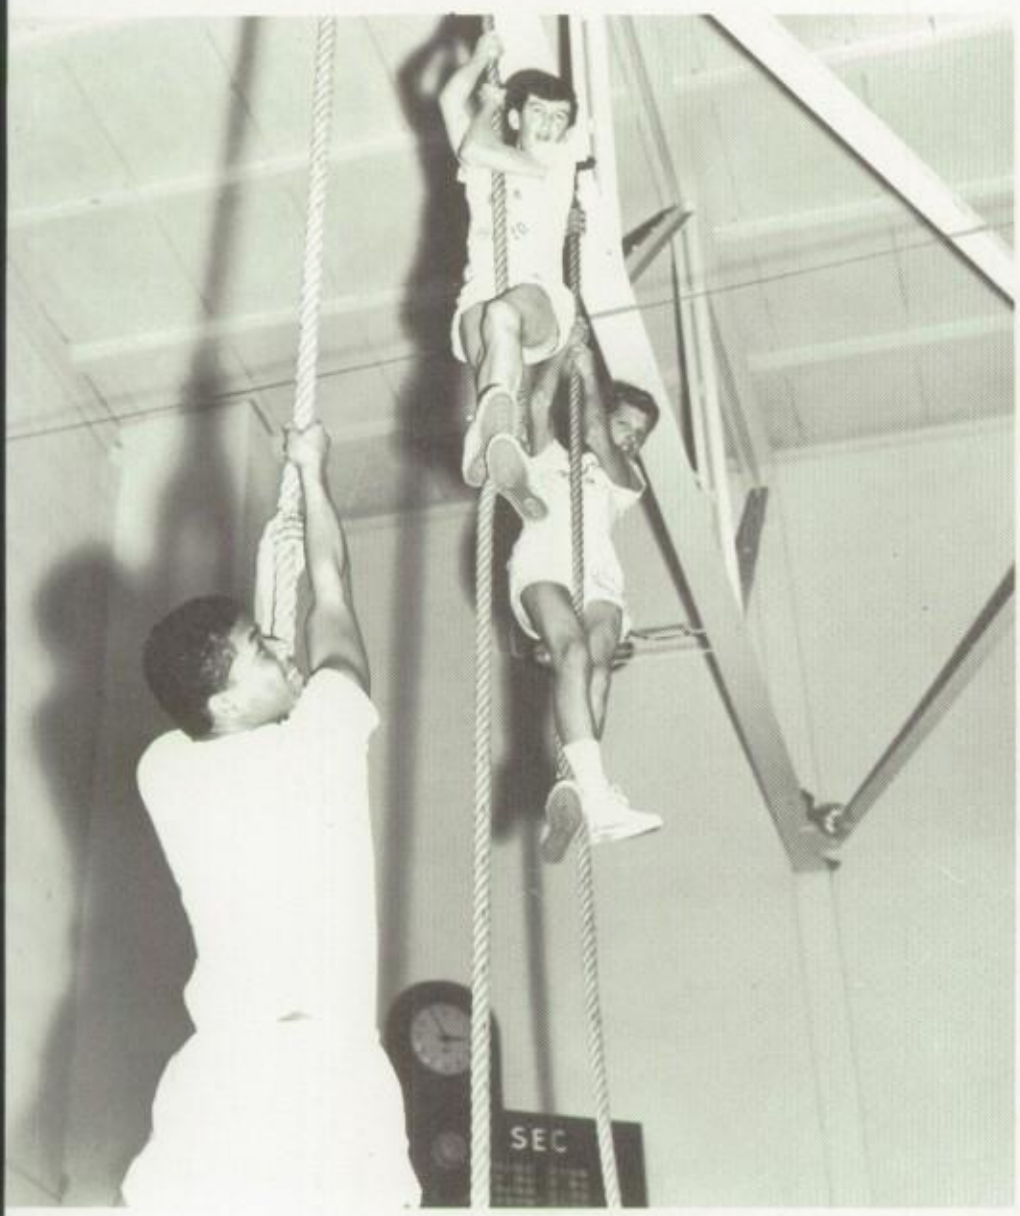
Auto Mechanics' Club — Robert Smith tries his hand at spray painting a car. Boys of the club prepared the car for its new coat of paint.

Chess Club — Concentration qualifies one to play chess, an age-old game. Mr. Coren studies Hilke Krieg's next move, which may put him in checkmate.

Skilled in Gymnastics



Boys' Gym Club — Arthur Wilson, Sterling Geesey, and Glenn Frey race with each other climbing to the top of the ropes. Boys work out on the varied types of apparatus.

Showing perfect balance and excellent coordination, Barb Holtzapple performs a split from a standing position on the balance beam. Spotters are on their guard to prevent any mishaps.

We all know, don't we, that something is eternal? And it ain't houses and it ain't names and it ain't earth, and it ain't even the stars . . . everybody knows in their bones that something is eternal, and that something has to do with human beings. There's something way down deep that's eternal about every human being.

Our year 1965 began with anticipation and ends with anticipation. As one senior class ends, another begins.

Sun's sure going down fast. Be dark in fifteen minutes . . . Time to move on.
